'What a difference a day makes'

programme is a series of small group workshops providing focused support ahead of their Maths and English GCSE examinations. We are looking for someone who can support them through this programme.

You don't need to be knowledgeable about Maths or English, this is more of a coach and motivational role. Are you a person they know who can motivate and inspire them as they develop through their learning journey?

Mentors will be sent texts or emails with information about the sessions so they know what they're doing and what to expect when they are there. There will be information on what they have been learning and simple tips for how to help them.
